RESOLVE VENTURES INC.

NOTES TO INTERIM FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

FEBRUARY 28, 2009

1. NATURE OF OPERATIONS AND GOING CONCERN

The Company's principal operations are the exploration of mineral properties in the Raglan area of Northern Quebec, Canada (Note 4).

These financial statements have been prepared on the basis of accounting principles applicable to a "going concern", which assume that the Company will continue in operation for the foreseeable future and will be able to realize its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of operations.

Several adverse conditions and events cast substantial doubt upon the validity of this assumption. The Company has incurred significant losses over several years as a result of administrative expenses and the write off of costs incurred on unprofitable resource properties. In addition, there are questions as to whether the Company will have enough working capital to meet future administrative and property expenditures. The Company's continued existence is dependent upon its ability to obtain additional financing and achieving future profitable production from existing resource properties or proceeds from the disposition thereof.

These financial statements do not reflect adjustments that would be necessary if the "going concern" assumption were not appropriate. Management believes that the actions already taken or planned will mitigate the adverse conditions and events which raise doubts about the validity of the "going concern" assumption used in preparing these financial statements.

If the "going concern" assumption were not appropriate for these financial statements, then adjustments would be necessary in the carrying values of assets and liabilities, the reported revenues and expenses, and the balance sheet classifications used.

In November 2008, the Company received shareholder approval to consolidate the Company's issued and outstanding common shares on the basis of a consolidation ratio to be determined by the directors, provided that such ratio is no greater than one post-consolidation share for every ten pre-consolidation shares. The consolidation may be implemented by the Company's board of directors in its sole discretion, at any time within six months following the date of shareholder approval. The share consolidation is subject to regulatory approval.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

a) Financial Instruments – Change in Accounting Policies

Effective September 1, 2007, the Company has adopted three new accounting standards related to financial instruments that were issued by the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants (“CICA”) in 2005. These accounting policy changes were adopted on a prospective basis with no restatement of prior period financial statements. The new standards and accounting policy changes are as follows:

Financial Instruments – Recognition and Measurement (CICA Handbook Section 3855)

In accordance with this new standard the Company is required to classify all financial instruments as either held-to-maturity, available-for-sale, held for trading or loans and receivables. Financial assets held to maturity, loans and receivables and financial liabilities other than those held for trading, are measured at amortized cost. Available-for-sale instruments are measured at fair value with unrealized gains and losses recognized in other comprehensive income. Instruments classified as held for trading are measured at fair value with unrealized gains and losses recognized on the statement of loss.

Comprehensive Income (CICA Handbook Section 1530)

The standard introduces the concept of comprehensive loss, which consists of net loss and other comprehensive income. Other comprehensive income (“OCI”) is comprised of the unrealized gains on available-for-sale financial assets arising during the year.

Cumulated changes in OCI are included in Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income (“AOCI”), which is presented as a new category within shareholders’ equity on the balance sheet.

Hedges (CICA Handbook Section 3865)

The new standard specifies the criteria under which hedge accounting can be applied and how hedge accounting can be executed. The Company has not designated any hedging relationships.

The adoption of the above CICA Handbook section does not have a significant impact on the Company’s financial statements.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

b) Mineral Properties, and Deferred Exploration and Development Costs

Costs and Amortization

Mineral properties, including options to mineral claims, are stated at cost. The recorded cost of mineral properties and exploration and development interests is based on cash paid and assigned value, if any, of share considerations given for mineral properties and exploration and development costs incurred.

All direct and indirect costs relating to the acquisition of mineral properties are capitalized on the basis of specific claim blocks or areas of geological interest until the properties to which they relate are placed into production, sold or when management has determined that there is impairment in the carrying values of those mineral properties.

The Company defers expenditures directly attributable to the exploration and development of mineral properties, pending a decision as to the commercial viability of a property. At such times as the Company loses or abandons title on its interest in the property, the accumulated expenditures on such property are charged to operations. If any property reaches commercial production, the applicable costs of the mineral property and the deferred exploration and development expenditures will be amortized against related production revenues on the unit of production method, based on the property's estimated reserves.

Values

Based on the information available to date, the Company has not yet determined whether the mineral properties it is exploring and developing contain economically recoverable reserves. The recoverability of the amounts capitalized as mineral properties and deferred exploration and development costs is dependent upon the confirmation of economically recoverable reserves, the ability of the Company to obtain necessary financing to successfully complete its exploration and development programs and upon future profitable production.

The amounts shown for mineral properties and deferred exploration and development expenses represent costs incurred to date, and do not necessarily represent present or future values as they are entirely dependent upon various factors as noted above.

b) Mineral Properties, and Deferred Exploration and Development Costs (Continued)

Cost of Maintaining Mineral Properties

The Company does not accrue the estimated future costs of maintaining its mineral properties in good standing.

Environmental Protection and Rehabilitation Costs

Presently, the Company does not foresee the necessity to make any material expenditure in this area; as a result, no amounts have been accrued for future site restoration costs.

c) Equipment

Office equipment is recorded at cost and amortized over its economic life using the declining balance method at the rate of 20%.

d) Income Taxes

Income taxes are recorded using the liability method of tax allocation. Future income taxes are calculated based on temporary timing differences arising from the difference between the tax basis of an asset or liability and its carrying value using tax rates anticipated to apply in the periods when the timing differences are expected to reverse. The recognition of future income tax assets is limited to the amount that is more likely than not to be realized.

e) Loss Per Share

Basic loss per common share is computed by dividing losses by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding for the year. Diluted per share amounts reflect the potential dilution that could occur if securities or other contracts to issue common shares were exercised or converted to common shares. The treasury stock method is used to determine the dilutive effect of stock options and other dilutive instruments. Under the treasury stock method, only instruments with exercise amounts less than market prices impact the diluted calculations. In computing diluted loss per share, no shares were added to the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the six months ended February 28, 2009 and February 29, 2008 for the dilutive effect of employee stock options and warrants as they were all anti-dilutive. No adjustments were required to report loss from operations in computing diluted per share amounts.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

f) Stock Option Plan

The Company accounts for all grants of options to employees, non-employees, and directors in accordance with the fair value method of accounting for stock based compensation pursuant to CICA Handbook Section 3870 – “Stock Based Compensation and Other Stock Based Payments”.

g) Foreign Currency Translation

Transactions denominated in foreign currencies are translated to Canadian dollars using the temporal method. Under this method, monetary assets and liabilities are translated at current rates of exchange and other assets and liabilities are translated at historical rates of exchange. Revenues and expenses are translated at average rates of exchange for the year, except for amortization and depletion which are translated at rates in effect when the related assets were acquired. All exchange gains and losses are recognized currently in earnings.

h) Use of Estimates

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions which affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from and affect the results reported in these financial statements.

i) Flow-through Financing

The Company has financed a portion of its exploration activities through the issue of flow-through shares which transfer the tax deductibility of exploration expenditures to the investor. Proceeds received on the issue of such shares have been credited to share capital and the related exploration costs have been charged to mineral property deferred exploration costs. When transferring the tax deductibility of exploration expenditures to the investor (renunciation), future income tax recovery income has been recognized and share capital has been reduced accordingly.

j) Fair Value of Warrants

Proceeds from unit placements are allocated between shares and warrants issued according to their relative fair value using the residual method to determine the fair value of warrants issued. Warrants issued to brokers are evaluated using the Black-Scholes model.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

k) Asset Retirement Obligations

The Company has adopted the CICA Handbook Section 3110 “asset retirement obligations” which establishes standards for the recognition, measurement and disclosure of liabilities for asset retirement obligations and the associated asset retirement costs. The standards apply to legal obligations associated with the retirement of long-lived tangible assets that arise from the acquisition, construction, development or normal operation of such assets. The standards require that a liability for an asset retirement obligation be recognized in the period in which it is incurred and when a reasonable estimate of the fair value of the liability can be made. Furthermore, a corresponding asset retirement cost should be recognized by increasing the carrying amount of the related long-lived asset. The asset retirement cost is subsequently allocated in a rational and systematic method over the underlying asset’s useful life. The initial fair value of the liability is accreted, by charges to operations, to its estimated nominal future value.

l) Impairment of Long-Lived Assets

The Company assesses the impairment of long-lived assets, which consist primarily of mineral property, property and equipment, whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying value of an asset may not be recoverable. Recoverability of assets to be held and used are measured by a comparison of the carrying values of the asset to future undiscounted net cash flows expected to be generated by the asset. If such assets are considered to be impaired, the amount of the impairment is measured by the amount by which the carrying amount of the asset exceeds its fair value.

m) Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

i) Going Concern

Effective September 1, 2008, the Company implemented the amended CICA Handbook Section 1400, to include requirements for management to assess and disclose an entity’s ability to continue as a going concern.

m) Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements (Continued)

ii) Financial Instruments

Effective September 1, 2008, the Company implemented the new CICA Handbook Sections: 3862, Financial Instruments – Disclosure, and 3863, Financial Instruments – Presentation, which replace Section 3861, Financial Instruments – Disclosures and Presentation. These new standards revise and enhance the disclosure requirements, and carry forward, substantially unchanged, the presentation requirements. Sections 3862 and 3863 emphasize the significance of financial instruments for the entity's financial position and performance, the nature and extent of the risks arising from financial instruments, and how these risks are managed.

iii) Capital Disclosures

The CICA issued a new accounting standard, Section 1535, Capital Disclosures, which requires the disclosure of both qualitative and quantitative information that provides users of financial statements with information to evaluate the entity's objectives, policies and processes for managing capital. This new section is effective for the Company beginning September 1, 2008.
